The largest online wholesale site provides automatic drop-shipping service

Asia-Product.com announced the launch of a brand new drop-shipping module, which provides automatic drop-shipping service to the online shop owners and ebayers.

/24-7PressRelease/ - HONG KONG, CHINA, November 10, 2006 - Asia-Product.com, one of the largest online wholesale sites, today announced the official launch of their brand new drop-shipping module, which provides automatic and easy-to-use drop-shipping service to all the online shops owners and ebayers.

Asia-Product.com has put its focus on providing wholesale computer and consumer electronics products, which include Digital Camera (DC), Portable Media Player (PMP), and TV related products from Asia and China, to the buyers all over the world.

Online retailing industry has grown rapidly in recent years and hence a lot of drop-shippers, who do not keep products in stock and passes customer orders directly to wholesalers, have appeared.

"Only a few of the wholesalers can actually provide professional drop-shipping services, though lots of them claim they do", said Kenny Lam, the Chief Operating Officer of Asia-Product.com. "Some of the wholesalers over-charge the startup and monthly fees on drop-shipping, some of them just involve too many emails and delays, and some of them just offer little discount to the drop-shippers".

"With the launch of drop-shipping service in Asia-Product.com, this is going to be changed. Drop-shippers can first download the product photos and descriptions from our website and put them to their ebay listings or online shops. When they receive an order from their customers, with just a few clicks on our website, they can place an order one by one and have them directly to their customers, without any Asia-product materials inside the package. And the products will arrive soon in the next few days by express courier company like UPS and DHL", added Kenny Lam.

"There are many advantages in placing drop-shipping orders in Asia-Product.", said Kenny Lam. "Drop shippers can enjoy the same discount rate as volume buyers do. As the buying quantity can be cumulative here in Asia-product, drop shippers can buy a single item a time but at the end they can enjoy a special discount as if they buy lots a time."

In Asia-product.com, the drop-shipping processes are fully automatic, without any human or salesman involved. That means faster order can be achieved. "Time is important to the drop-shippers as there is not much room for delay after they receive an order from their customers. We shorten the time delay by putting everything to automations. Drop-shippers can read the price list online without asking for quotations. All the product prices, postages, and handling charges are clearly displayed online. There are no hidden charges", said Kenny Lam.

Although there is no startup fee or monthly fee in Asia-product.com, there is a USD $2 transaction fee for each drop-shipping order. However, this fee is also waived during their promotion period. For more details, please visit Asia-Product.com <http://www.asia-product.com>.
